Gurango Software Releases DynamicPay - An Innovative New Australian-Compliant Payroll

RSS feed for Gurango Software:

Gurango Software, a leading Australian provider of Human Resource Software has released a new Payroll solution - DynamicPay. "For years Gurango has embodied Human resource management ease of use and efficiency," said Alistair Gibson, MD of Gurango Australia. "Now we are pleased to extend our offering to include a comprehensive Australian-compliant payroll" According to Gibson: "DynamicPay simplifies the employee record setup, the payroll processes, and the presentation of information over regular payrolls."

Gurango designed DynamicPay to cater to both Australian and international payroll requirements. Although payroll can never be 100% automated Gibson says: "DynamicPay automates much of the complexity inherent in many regular payroll systems."

Gurango has applied years of experience and research to the development of DynamicPay. Central to the products development platform was in-built integration to all three Microsoft Dynamics ERP products (AX, NAV and GP). In keeping with a modern architecture the product was built on the Microsoft .Net platform and incorporates scalable three-tier architecture.

Many payrolls cannot cater to multiple locations and all but a handful of expensive tier-1 payrolls are country specific. Meaning companies with offices in more than one country had to buy multiple payroll systems. Gurango claims DynamicPay is different in this respect. A scalable architecture allows companies to process payroll on a single database from any number of locations and for any number of companies without limit.

DynamicPay is claimed to be the first affordable payroll to cater to any number of employees, companies, currencies, transactions and locations on one unified SQL database. Gibson says: "with this product we are offering our Australian customers tier-1 functionality for tier-2 pricing."

DynamicPay is available immediately through Gurango Australia directly and all Australian partners. Gurango Australia can be reached toll-free on 1800 174 210.
